CD6, pp 4-9-20 Oswald literature distribution; witnesses.

No reason is given for the interviews of these people. Something had to have led the FBI to question them. Note that all but one are with the State employment service, where Oswald was known other than "due to the nationwide television and newspaper coverage". I do not recall where this office then was. In 1963 it was not the Gateway Bldg., formerly the International Trade Mart.

The last person on the list is the subject of other reports. I seem to recall that Andrews knew her, but am not at all certain.

This strikes me as the kind of report prepared to persuade Washington that the search was diligent and thorough whereas the opposite was true. Again, reference to earlier distribution is lacking and the obvious possibility is that those in that tole are known to the employment service, that investigation would have revealled details about them not consistent with official desires. Note in this connection that neither Cruz nor Hernandez, Bringuier's companions, were witnesses, and that his brother-in-law, although he had seen Oswald several times, also was not a witness.
